The Alma Mater

Orange groves o'er spread her campus
Chimes her hymns intone,
India greets across the garden
Southern's mystic throne.

Florida Southern, thee we love;
Thee we'll never fail
Hail to thee our alma mater,
Hail to Southern, hail.

Stately walls alone can never
Compass learning's goal
Heart to heart must pass the token
Soul in spirit soul.

Florida Southern, thee we love;
Thee we'll never fail
Hail to thee our alma mater,
Hail to Southern, hail.

Student Life

Move In

In the hot Florida sunshine the incoming freshmen moved in to their new residence halls to start their college careers. On their way to the parking lot they were greeted by students waving pom-poms and holding signs.

Students weren't the only ones getting in on the act. Even Dr. Kerr stopped by to help some of the freshmen girls move their things into Allen Spivey. The Greek move-in team worked tirelessly all day to carry televisions, printers, mini-fridges, and bedding.

The friendly faces were a welcoming sight to freshmen, still a little dazed by the move-in frenzy. Despite not knowing what the coming year would bring, the new students had gotten off to an excellent start.

When orientation for the fall semester of 2011-2012 came around, our incoming freshmen were in for a “lavenous” show from NBC Phenomenon winner, Mike Super. The illusionist came to our campus to do a special show for the new class of 2015 and left them in awe.

Mike’s illusions were of a wide variety and blew the minds of all watching. He preformed card tricks, paper tricks (shown to the right), and tricks using what he has picked up around the world such as voodoo.

Showcasing just how skilled he is, Mike used FSC students as onstage assistants. He even gave students a chance to participate in one of his illusions on his new TV series. Needless to say this was an amazing night and nobody could believe what they had seen!

Mission Improvable

The explosion of laughter filled Branscomb Auditorium the night of August 23rd. Mission Improvable had come to Florida Southern's campus to welcome in the new students. Any shyness caused by the transfer to a new school was immediately banished as the comedy duo pulled students onto the stage to perform skits with them.

When asked for suggestions students called out to the performers places around campus and the word "lavenous," introduced by magician Mike Super two nights before. The duo improvised skits using areas around campus, places that they were unfamiliar with but made jokes about nonetheless.

No matter what was called out though, hilarity resulted. Anything could happen with Mission Improvable, and in many cases it did.

Every year the Residential Advisors and Community Living organizes a special program for students in their second year. It was called the Second Year Experience, a title that would go on to sponsor a flurry of events.

It allowed students in their second year of college to avoid getting lost in the crowd between the incoming freshmen and graduating seniors. With SYE in action FSC sophomores were not forgotten.

SYE events were usually cookouts, barbeques, and field trips. These events gave students free dinners as well as time to hang out with their friends. Competitions like corn hole and rock-paper-scissors are held between students for a chance to win prizes such as shirts or other FSC gear.

Price Is Right

For the last couple of years Community Living has hosted a Price is Right competition for students right after they move in. The game gives students the chance to win prizes for their dorm room or apartment. Items ranged from lamps to water-proof cameras and flat screen televisions. The competition was fierce among contestants.

Three names were drawn randomly and the students were called up on stage to compete against each other. Each contestant tried to guess the right price of the selected items. Those that guessed correctly were given the items and invited on to the next round.

After each round, winners would compete against each other much like the show. Contestants were able to play some of the game's most famous mini-games such as "Plinko." It was a great way to welcome students back for a new year.

5... 4... 3... 2... 1... BLAST OFF!

The launch of the 2011-2012 school year began with the annual Blast Off Celebration hosted by the Center for Student Involvement. Blast Off is a showcase that gives students the opportunity to connect with more than seventy clubs and organizations on campus.

Inside the Nina B. Hollis Wellness Center gym this year's celebration featured lots of free goodies such as Ben & Jerry's ice cream, goldfish in bags, Jimmy Johns subs, hot dogs with a range of toppings, inflatable bounce games and more. Students were invited to eat and chat while they explored the many opportunities that their campus offered.

Dave Barnes

On Wednesday, September 8, students and community members crowded into Branscomb Auditorium to listen to singer and songwriter Dave Barnes. For over two hours the audience clapped their hands to several of his songs such as You Give Me What I Need, My Love My Enemy, and God Gave Me You.

Barnes joked with the audience and asked them to participate, an act that found an enthusiastic response.

"I like how friendly he was," said Gus Fussell, junior philosophy and psychology major. "It gave everyone a chance to, like, hang out and listen to him."

Sometimes the sing-alongs and participation weren't even prompted by Barnes. Whenever he played a fan favorite the response was electric. Even some of the artist's less popular songs prompted fans to clap along. Barnes walked off the stage to a standing ovation.

Fall Fling is an exciting yearly event hosted by Theta Chi Fraternity. Thousands of water balloons were filled and stored in giant buckets. When the time came, FSC students threw them at each other. Aside from members of the Theta Chi Fraternity, the event attracted many students to participate, and more watched.

Right before the event started, Theta Chi member Mike Garcia gave an announcement which he was unable to finish due to one of the senior Theta Chi's throwing water balloons at him, to which he responded by yelling, "You know what?! Just start!" With that, Fall Fling officially started with students yelling and screaming as they started catapulting water balloons across the Greek Quad.

During the event, if one was not careful, he or she could expect a balloon to the face (as seen in the right). As the number of balloons dwindled, the energy of the students did not. They started to fill buckets with water, emptying them on each other. When the event was officially over, students were drenched but left with a smile on their faces.

Coffee House

For five years now Florida Southern's Jackson Religious Building has played host to coffee houses, organized by the campus ministry. This effort is called TZeDEK. The purpose of the coffee houses has been to raise money and awareness for various social justice causes. This year focused on The Ewaso Project, whose goal is to provide wells to supply clean water to Kenya.

The coffee houses serve Fair Trade coffee from Rwanda, and the proceeds go back to Rwanda. The coffee houses also give students a chance to perform, grab snacks, and just hang out with each other. Sometimes students entertained their classmates with musical performances and open mic, allowing for a fun and festive atmosphere while supporting a good cause.

Piano pieces flew in the air as Phi Mu Alpha, Florida Southern's music fraternity, hosted a piano bash at the bandshell. The old piano was stationed up front for all to see, the fraternity members standing by to monitor the bash.

Students paid for the privilege of smashing the old piano with an assortment of hammers, all donations going to charity. Once they paid, they donned safety goggles, grabbing various sized hammers depending on what they had paid. The old piano was donated since it was no longer able to be played.

Stepping onto the plastic tarp participants' friends called out encouragement and advice. They then swung the hammer over their heads, bringing it down hard on the piano's keyboard and sides. Sometimes the hammers broke as well as the piano, but at the end the piano lay in ruins, to the cheers of the crowd.

House of Blue Leaves

When the Pope comes to visit New York, Artie Shaughnessy falls headfirst into a world of the unknown. With his wife on medicine, his son going to Vietnam, a mistress that won't cook for him, and crazy nuns stuck on his roof, Artie's life will never be the same.

In the fall production by the theatre company, the audience was swept away into the 1960's and a man's midlife crisis that becomes a dark and twisted comedy. The cast performed two weekends for the student body and community, receiving great reviews from all who watched.

All that attended came away with different interpretations but could all agree on one thing: FSC's theatre department did a wonderful job and kept the audience wanting more.

In the first production of FSC Theatre's spring season, we were invited to try "the worst pies in London." That is, until they got a special ingredient. Stephen Sondheim's Sweeney Todd came to the FSC stage at Buckner Theatre for a three weekend run and it was an incredible production.

The play took the audience through an intense and dramatic story of a man scorned by love and seeking revenge by killing those who wronged him. It was sure to have the audience on the edge of their seat. If the story wasn't enough to draw you in, then the cast of students would surely do the trick. In an amazing ensemble effort, our very own classmates brought the story to life, giving us a show that we will not soon forget!

Buried Life

The October convocation had Florida Southern host to Jonnie and Duncan Penn, Dave Lingwood, and Ben Nemtin, the creators of the hit MTV reality show The Buried Life. The show features the four touring around the country, fulfilling items on their bucket lists while helping others do the same.

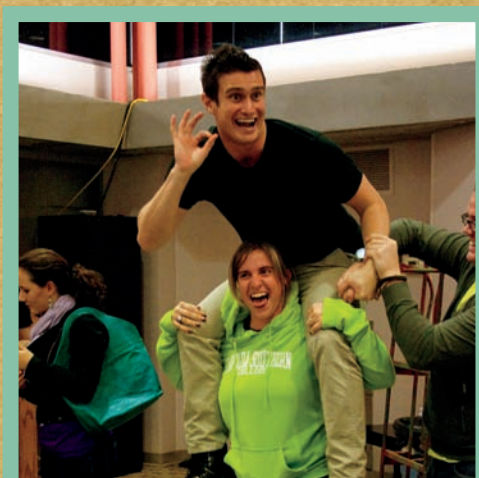

The convocation spoke of the group's experiences, as well as urged students to decide what they want to do with their life. At a later performance students were invited to share items on their bucket lists and footage from the quartet's show was aired, some never before seen on television.

The Zeta Tau Alpha Pink Party was an afternoon full of fun, and of course lots of pink. There was plenty of food (some which were pink), and games in which people could participate in.

One of these games was limbo. The game lasted a long time, however no one can limbo on forever. As the stick lowered it height, people began dropping like flies until there was a winner.

The next game was Pie a ZTA. Based on votes, a selected few ZTA's were pied in the face. While some ZTA's didn't mind the pie, others feared it's approach to their face. At the end of the day, it was all in good fun and everyone laughed.

The event ended with the naming of Mr. & Ms. Pink. All money raised went to the sorority's philanthropy, Breast Cancer Education and Awareness.

Fall Festival

November fifth saw a gathering of students in Badcock Garden to celebrate the changing of the seasons. Food was provided, as well as entertainment for the fair-goers. A live band played music as students relaxed and played.

A host of booths were laid out with activities for students to participate in. One of the favorites included a dunk tank where fairgoers threw tennis balls to try to send their friends plunging into a tank of water. A tie-dye station was also available as well as a bouncy castle, Nerf gun dart games, and face painting. The weather managed to stay sunny despite the season, just right to match the atmosphere.

At this year's talent show students showed that they had what it took to shine. Students showed off their musical talents to their fellow classmates in Branscomb auditorium. Performers sang everything from Frank Sinatra to Celine Dion and OneRepublic, all in hope of winning first, second, or third place.

Some students took the stage with no more accompaniment than their own voice. Demonte Cheeks showed off his solo musician skills, while others like Alyssa Hunek and Mae Puttre sang solos. Others played instruments with bands and back-up singers. No matter what they did, all the performers proved that Southern's got talent!

Buck Off

Screams filled the air in the Greek quad as sorority and fraternity members held onto a bucking mechanical bull for dear life. The contest was the finale of Greek Week, a weeklong stretch of fraternities and sororities competition. That night the winners would be announced, each group receiving an extra boost from their brave riders.

Each rider saddled up to earn points for their respective fraternities and sororities. Points were awarded according to how long a rider could stay seated. Each organization got into the spirit, some even dressing up as rodeo clowns before they rode. All of the participants had a wild time.

For the first time on January 17, in Badcock Garden students had a chance for a free ride in a hot air balloon. Groups of three or four students were taken up into the air for a few minutes. From several feet in the air these students were able to enjoy the picturesque view of the sun setting on their campus.

Adding to the festive atmosphere free carnival food was served, such as cotton candy, pretzels, hamburgers, corn dogs, and lemonade.

"I've been waiting for over an hour and it's so worth it," said Zakera Barnes, junior English major. "Riding in an hot air balloon is one thing on my 'list of things to do before I die.'"

So many students showed up that the time for rides was extended past its original cut off of time of six p.m., allowing more students to get a bird's eye view of their campus.

Up Til Dawn

Up 'Til Dawn is a nationwide non-profit organization with support on campus. The group held several events to raise money for St. Jude's Children's hospital. The hospital specializes in treating children for cancer and researching to find a cure. Students acted as solicitors to raise funds to help their cause.

The organization also hosted several events, such as the Up 'Til Dawn Birthday Party to celebrate the organization's creation, a superhero party in Badcock Garden, and a letter-addressing event in Rogers Auditorium during the 2012 Week of Impact. Altogether the group raised thousands of dollars to help in the fight against cancer. Thanks to the overwhelming support of the Florida Southern community.

Tough Mudder is “probably the toughest event on the planet.” Just completing the challenge is a big deal. Originating in Europe, the Tough Mudder is a twelve mile obstacle course with twenty-five obstacles designed by the British Special Forces. Not only is it physically tough, but this course is designed to push you to your mental limits. People gather from everywhere to participate in this world wide event; however, only seventy percent actually complete the course.

Florida Southern College’s ROTC program took twenty cadets this year, each completing the difficult obstacle course. This is the first year FSC’s ROTC program participated in this event. Cadets who participated in this event stated that it was one of the most memorable and rewarding things they have ever completed. With such positive reviews, this is not the last year the cadets will be competing in this event.

Sports

Men's Basketball

The men's basketball team and Coach Linc Darner finished up the season during their SSC conference rankings with help from a Division I transfer Seth Evans, and power center Brett Baily. Each player averaged 17 and 14.9 points per game. The team is a very young one, starting with three freshmen in the lineup. Newcomer freshman Kevin Capers was a pleasant addition to the men's team, averaging 14 points per game as well as key players Tyler Kelly and Cameron Vines.

The Mocs went 12-5 until they fell to Nova Southeastern and Saint Leo in the middle of conference play. In one of the biggest games of the season against Rollins College with an almost a sold-out crowd, the Mocs were unable to get the win in a devastating 71-76 loss dropping them in the rankings. Coach Darner and the team will only graduate one senior and will be bringing back almost the entire team for the another strong season.

The women's basketball team had another strong season, placing high at number 19 in the NCAA Division II national rankings and placing in second in the Sunshine State Conference behind Rollins College. The team, led by the top scorer in the SCC, Michaela Hawly, who averaged 20.2 points as well as 7.8 rebounds, was able to host the conference tournament this season at George W. Jenkins Fieldhouse.

Coach Jarod Olson, who was named Coach of the Year in the 2010-2011 season, and Coach Holly Borchers helped break Delta State University's 63 home game winning streak. The coaches also helped knock off the number one team in the conference, Rollins College, in a 59-56 victory, placing the Mocs in the number one seed spot until the Mocs dropped back down to number two shortly after.

The Mocs are graduating four key seniors: Megan Dzikas, Danielle Walsh, Michaela Hawley, and Sofie Lundberg.

Men's Cross Country/Track

After losing Head Coach Jamie Moreno, the Florida Southern men's track team trained by themselves during the off season. They met every day at their normal practice time and kept high hopes for the upcoming season.

After several weeks, Interim Head Coach and former FSC runner Ben Martucci was hired. Martucci took over and immediately began scheduling workouts and meets for the team. The men are mostly distance runners who have put in a lot of work after cross country season and hope to do well during track. Martucci says he has high expectations for all the runners and thinks this is a great experience for himself as well as the team.

The Florida Southern women's track team is being lead by Interim Head Coach and former FSC standout runner Rebecca Marsh. Marsh was the assistant cross-country and track coach for the Moccasins in 2008, and is now back and ready to get the women's team on the track. The women trained together during the off-season and got themselves in good shape for the upcoming meets. Marsh is impressed with several of the women's times and looks to have a successful season.

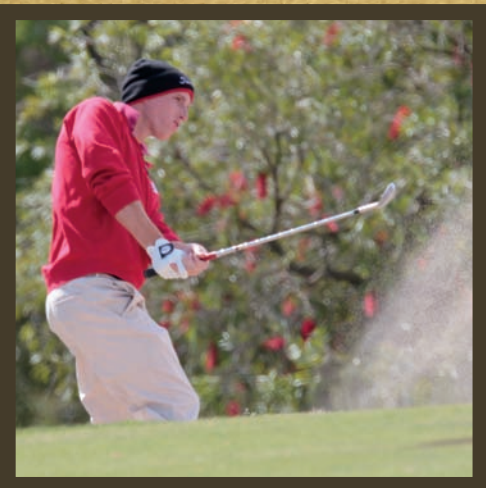

Men's Golf

Even before the season started there were high hopes for the men's golf team. The team was voted 21 in a pre-season poll by the Golf World/Nike Golf Division II coaches. The team fought a hard round but slipped to sixth place on the last day of the Aflac/Cougar Invitational in Georgia. They would go on to place seventh in both the Rollins and the Nova Invationals.

The players would still distinguish themselves and play competitively throughout the season. Junior Case Gard would win the coveted title of the Sunshine State Conference Men's Golfer of the Week. Other students would score high personal statistics going into the spring season.

The women's golf team had an excellent season, starting by winning the Lady Falcon Invitational in September. In October they placed tenth at the University of Kentucky's Bettie Lou Evans Invitational. Undaunted they went to place second only nine days later at the Nova Southeastern Sharks Invitational in a close competition between them and Nova Southeastern.

They continued strong in October, finishing second at the Saint Leo Invitational on October 18. In February, the team tied for first place at the Tusculum Invitational with Lynn University. The team went on to several other invitationals and matches, continuing to play competitively.

Men's Lacrosse

The men's lacrosse team is in the midst of a great season. They are 4-5 overall and 4-2 DSC.

Star performers have been recognized for their outstanding achievements. Mat Thompson and DJ Lubs received the Deep South Conference offensive and defensive Player of the Week Awards in March. Dane Sorensen's performance earned him Freshman Player of the Week for the Deep South Conference. He scored seven goals in two games helping the team go 1-1.

This year's highlighted game was against Leinor-Ryhne for a win. The Mocs scored eight fourth-quarter goals. The final results of the tournament were released after publication.

The women's lacrosse team was the newest addition to the Florida Southern College athletics program with 26 new faces around campus. The team consisting of 19 freshman and only six upperclassmen, have already done big things. The team was led by Coach Reber and assistant coach Arika Ward and had a successful pre-season by beating the National Scottish Women's and the University of Central Florida's lacrosse teams. They made history by winning their inaugural game held at Bryant Stadium.

The team is led by captains Mara Mason, Danielle LaDuca, Katie Gladhill, and Katie Hammerer who all have experience at the collegiate level. The team travelled throughout the Sunshine State as well as in North and South Carolina. The first year program hosted games at FSC on Barnett Field as well.

Men's Baseball

In a Sunshine State Conference preseason poll the men's baseball team was voted fourth, showcasing their great potential. The team narrowly won their first game on February 3, against Young Harris, the score being 3-2. The team won their next game the very next day with a score of 2-1 against Young Harris again.

The team faced stiff competition for their season but continued to play through their tightly packed schedule. On February 11 they won over Lincoln Memorial in a 6-5 competition. Raining down fast pitches and throwing out home runs the team played through a tough season.

Florida Southern is the only college to showcase it's talent against two professional teams: the Detroit Tigers and the Baltimore Orioles.

“Take me out to the ballgame!”

That was the cry of the eighteen girls in the Florida Southern College women's softball team as the school year began. Though their season began in the spring, their training had started way back at the beginning of the school year with tryouts on September 1. Seven freshmen made it through tryouts and onto the team to join the returning players.

The girls were put through a rigorous training schedule to prepare them for the upcoming season. Their hard work certainly showed as the girls scored a 4-1 win against West Florida, followed by a tough loss to Armstrong later in the day.

However, the very next day they came back strong when Brittany Martin tied with a school record for hitting three doubles. Needless to say the team won their game in an 11-7 win over Lindenwood, setting the pace for the rest of the year.

Men's Soccer

The men's soccer team gave an excellent performance for their 2011-2012 season. The fall season started a series of wins for the team, catapulting them through the standings. They lost against Barry 3-1, but were not to be outdone. In the last match of the fall the team scored a win against Rollins in a 4-1 match, with seniors J.D. Ruiz and Zach Hofsetter shining in their performance.

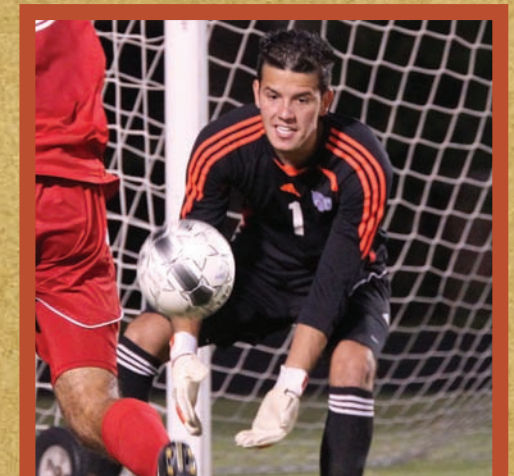

These members were later voted onto the All-Sunshine State Conference Men's Soccer Team for the second year in a row. Overall the team won seven out of fifteen of their matches, a sixteenth being cancelled, and grabbing the eighth spot in the Sunshine State Conference for 2011.

The women's soccer team had a remarkable season. They were 2-5-1 SSC and 7-7-1 overall. The team entered the SSC tournament seated 7th.

Matched against Florida Tech, the Mocs' suffered a loss that was to be repeated against 12th seated Rollins. The Moccasins previously lost to Florida Tech, Tampa and Lynn, and tied Nova Southeastern, so their odds in the championship were never well favored.

This year's all-star was Martina Tangen Billing, who was named to the Academic All-District Team. Billing earned this distinction in part to her performance against Rollins in the final game. She converted a late penalty kick, but it wasn't enough as Florida Southern fell 2-1 to Rollins.

Men's Tennis

The Florida Southern men's tennis team looks to recover from a sluggish start to their season. They were back on the winning track after beating ranked Wayne State 9-0 on Tuesday, March 13th. The team is 4-8 overall, and 1-3 in the Sunshine State Conference, with their highly anticipated conference matches against Florida Tech and St. Leo still ahead.

The Florida Southern women's tennis team was off to a slow start, but remains optimistic. They beat Division I Big East team, Villanova, by a tally of 8-1 on March 6. The Lady Mocs are 3-5 overall, and 2-3 in the Sunshine State Conference. They look forward to battling St. Leo on March 29th and Northwood (home) on April 4th.

Men's Swimming

The team had a strong start, finishing fourth in their first match at the All-Florida Invitational. However, the highlight of the season was the record-breaking wins the team racked up at the Sunshine State Conference Swimming Championship.

Senior Jeb Halfacre set an NCAA, school and meet record in the 200-yard backstroke and participated in the winning 400-yard freestyle relay team with Luis Rojas, Robbie Swan and Stephen Swan. Allan Gutierrez, Robbie Swan and Stephen Swan finished 2-3-4 in the 100-yard freestyle. Miguel Ferreira was second in the 200-yard breaststroke.

The Moccasins were second with 827 in the SSC Companionship. For the meet, the men won nine events, six in meet-record times, and set 10 school records.

Men's swimming had an outstanding showing at the NCAA Division-II Swimming Championship. Halfacre retained his title as national champion in the 200-yard backstroke. He was also part of the champion 400-yard medley relay with teammates Ferreira, Janzen, and Swan. The team was 3rd overall in the meet.
